ISRAEL

M&H

Israel's first whiskey distillery, they are an urban distillery located in an up and coming neighborhood in Tel Aviv. With 300 sunny days in an average year in the Mediterranean, hot climate maturation means the whiskies age rapidly. In order to make sure the whiskey aged gracefully they hired the late Dr Jim Swan, one of the world's most accomplished master distillers and an expert in hot climate distillation and maturation. The whiskey takes on specific terroir and unique flavors that combine with a range of new and interesting cask finishes.

Amaro dell'Etna, Sicily

Amaro dell' Etna has its roots on the slopes of Mount Etna, where more than 26 herbs and aromatic plants grow to craft this spectacular digestif. The 100% natural, hundred-year-old special recipe embodies the volcanic nature of Sicilian soil. The meticulously-selected herbs and plants are carefully washed, and the aromas skillfully extracted before being mixed with water-sugar based syrup. The liquid is then left to mature for more than two months to draw out the full potential and bold spiced flavor. It is distinguished by its herbal notes, hints of licorice with a fragrant essence of blood oranges.

Marolo Grappa, Alba

Paolo Marolo and his brother began making grappa in 1977. They opened Saint Therese distillery with two small dicontinuous "bain marie" alembic stills, one for red wine pomace and one for white wine pomace. He has become an innovator in the world of grappa, taking a rustic old-world style and experimenting with single noble grape varietals instead of mixed pomace. His slow, hands-on production methods create these artisinal grappas in small quantities to be aged in native Acacia and oak barrels for long and careful aging.

Destilerias Acha, Alava

Founded in 1831, Destilerías Acha is one of the oldest businesses in continuous operation in the Basque Country of Spain. Pacharán comes from the Sierra de Orduña in Alava. It is made from local sloe berries that grow wild in the hillsides that surround Artomaña Valley vineyards. These berries are then macerated with an alcohol that has been distilled five times. Another batch of this alcohol is used to macerate three types of anise and is then distilled once more. Once both macerations are complete, these two products are blended with sugar and alcohol to create Pacharán Sierra de Orduña.

DO Ferreiro, Galicia

Do Ferreiro sources its Orujo from a more than 250 year old vineyard planted with the albariño grape variety. Do Ferreiro Orujo de Galicia retains all of the subtle aromatics of white flowers and herbs that we associate with their exceptional albariño. The low yields of these incredibly old grapevines naturally limits the annual production. Do Ferreiro double distills their pomace in an alquitara, a primitive still most often used in Spanish brandy production.
